Connecticut Senate passes Popular Vote Bill

This week the Connecticut Senate passed the dangerous Popular Vote bill.

Organizers of the Popular Vote bill need 270 electoral votes from all states to pass this legislation. As of right now, Connecticut brings the tally to 172 electoral votes of the 270 needed. The Democrats have 98 electoral votes to go. Their goal is to eliminate the 200-year electoral college system. In essence, it will allow the biggest states in the USA to vote for our President. All they will need is the majority of California and New York. The rest of our votes will not matter. The Democrats know this is a way to get in power and stay in power. It is our duty to make our voice heard to our Representatives.

These 12 States make up the 172 Electoral Votes Approving the National Popular Vote Into Law

The bill will take effect when enacted by states possessing an additional 98 electoral votes.

District of Columbia – 3 electoral votes

Hawaii – 4 electoral votes

Illinois – 20 electoral votes

Maryland – 10 electoral votes

Massachusetts – 11 electoral votes

New Jersey – 14 electoral votes

Washington – 12 electoral votes

Vermont – 3 electoral votes

California – 55 electoral votes

Rhode Island – 4 electoral votes

New York – 29 electoral votes

Conneticut - 7 electoral votes
